

EXTERIOR TREATMENT

The proportions and dimensions of the interior Spaces are generally determined by the size of the furniture and the need for human movement. ~~So long, wide, tall appropriate space gives a person with comfortable feeling, reflect also beautiful on appearance. Local be like the height of door window, width and scale of scale, also be decided by the demand of function,~~ do not produce the phenomenon of scale, scale disorder commonly thereby.

When carrying out residential appearance design, whether it is horizontal, vertical, group, grid, scatter point and other composition techniques, or free-style appearance, we must carefully deal with the relationship between the whole and the proportion of each component. The same building, due to different composition