ComPDFKit for Web Tools Overview

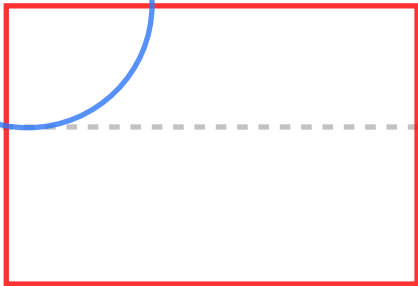

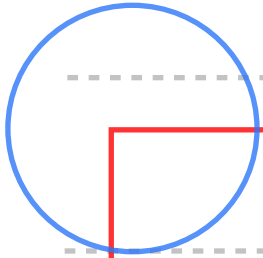

The screenshot displays the ComPDFKit for Web viewer interface with various tool annotations. The interface is divided into several sections:

- Top Bar: Contains navigation and viewing controls such as 'Full Screen', 'Pan Tool', 'Zoom', and 'Light/Dark Mode'. It also features a toolbar with icons for 'Viewer', 'Annotations', 'Forms', 'Signatures', and 'Security'.
- Left Panel: Labeled 'Annotations, Layers, Search', it shows a list of annotations with details like date and time (e.g., '21/05/2023 10:13') and a description of the annotation type.
- Main Content Area: Displays a PDF document titled 'Annotations'. The text includes: 'In addition to its primary textual content, a PDF file can contain annotations that represent links, form elements, highlighting circles, textual notes, and so on. Each annotation is associated with a specific location on a page and may offer interactivity with the user. Annotations allow users to mark up and comment on PDFs without altering the original author's content.' Below this, it lists 'Annotation Type' (Free Text, Shapes: Square, Circle, and Line, Ink, etc.) and 'Create & Edit Annotations'.
- Right Panel: Labeled 'View Setting', it includes options for 'Vertical/Horizontal Mode', 'Property', 'More', 'Display Mode', 'Split View', 'Continuous Scroll', and 'Themes'.
